

Dumplings with Royal Baking Powder

No dessert is more delicious, wholesome and appetizing than a well-made dumpling, filled with the fruit of the season. By the use of the Royal Baking Powder the crust is always rendered light, flaky, tender and digestible. Dumplings made with it, baked or boiled, will be dainty and wholesome, and may be eaten steaming hot with perfect impunity.

Recipe.—One quart of flour; thoroughly mix with it three teaspoons of Royal Baking Powder and a small teaspoon of salt; rub in a piece of butter or lard the size of an egg, and then add one large potato, grated in the flour; after the butter is well mixed, stir in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in an earthen dish (or steamer) and steam until the fruit is tender. Bake if preferred.

In all receipts calling for cream of tartar and soda, substitute Royal Baking Powder. Less trouble, never fails, makes more appetizing and wholesome food and is more economical. Royal Baking Powder is especially made for use in the preparation of the finest and most delicate cookery.

Martin Burke Identified

As the Man That Rented the Carlson Cottage.

POINTED OUT BY TWO WITNESSES

Old Mr. Carlson and His Daughter-in-Law Give Some Damaging Testimony Against the Cronin Suspects—An Important Day For the Prosecution.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Martin McHale, carpet layer, was the first witness in the Cronin trial. He testified that the carpet bought by "J. B. Simonds" in February last was laid by him (the witness) on the floor of a room at 117 Clark street. The witness was then shown a piece of carpet, presumably from the Carlson cottage, and he identified it as identical in pattern with that which he laid in the Clark street room.

Martin Burke was positively identified as Frank Williams, one of the tenants of the Carlson cottage by Annie Carlson, daughter-in-law of the old Carlsons. She said in March last she was a domestic in the employ of Addison Ballard, on Michigan avenue. On the 10th of that month she visited her parents-in-law at their cottage. She was there with her husband, Charles Carlson, from 10 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. One man called during that time. He spoke to Mr. Carlson, and said that he wanted to rent the cottage and keep house with his sister. He said that his sister would not be there for a week, but he had some furniture he would send to the cottage. Mr. Carlson wrote a receipt, and when asked what name should be put in he replied Frank Williams. He said that he worked down town.

"Do you see that man now?" the witness was asked.

"I do," she responded in a firm tone. "In the court room?"

"I do."

"Point him out."

The black gloved hand went up, and the index finger pointed direct at the face of Martin Burke. A deathlike stillness prevailed, and a pin might have been heard drop. Every eye was fixed on the Winnipeg fugitive. His eyes, which had been riveted on the witness from the moment she ascended the stand, remained there and took on a glassy look for a moment. Then he winced and the hot blood surged into his cheeks until they were crimson, while his jaws worked convulsively on the piece of gum in his mouth. Still Luther Lathin Mills kept up the torture.

"Is the man you point at and identify as the man who rented the cottage Martin Burke?"

"That's him, the man who is chewing."

There was a wild hunted look in Burke's eyes, still fixed on the witness, and the audience expected a scene. It was disappointed, however, and Mrs. Carlson was turned over to the defense. Cross-examination failed to shake her testimony. She was asked to describe the appearance of the man while Lawyer Donahue stood before Burke so that his face could not be seen by the witness. She said his hair was dark, while Burke's is rather light, but this is explained by the fact that while apparently light at a distance at close quarters it looks dark. With this exception Forrest did not break down a word of the testimony.

Jonas Carlson was put on the stand and told the story of the renting of the cottage, but had not been asked to identify Burke when a recess was taken.

Before Mrs. Carlson was called the receipt for the furniture given by "J. B. Simonds" was put in evidence. It was, however, ruled out. Fred M. Allen, Revell's teamster, testified to the delivery of the goods to the Clark street flat.

Carlson continued his testimony at the afternoon session. He said that on the morning of May 3 he noticed on the front steps of the rented cottage a lot of spots which he thought were caused by the breaking of a jar of preserves, and the tracks of heavy shoes and a wagon near by. These circumstances did not arouse his suspicion, however, and it was not until two weeks later, when he received a letter from Hammond, Ind., signed "B. F. W." saying the writer had concluded to give up the house, and that the keys had been lost, that the old man decided to break into the building and make an investigation. The day after he received the letter Carlson, his son Charles, and his son-in-law, Lindgren, crawled through the front window into the parlor. They found the floor painted yellow except in two or three spots. There were footprints in the paint and stains on the walls. The chairs were lying on their sides. One of them being broken as if a struggle had taken place.

Mr. Mills then asked: "How many times have you seen the man who rented your cottage?"

"Three times."

"Look about the court room and see if that man is here."

A deep hush fell on all present as the old man, peering searchingly, first at those in front of him, then at the jury and the reporters, stepped down from the witness chair, and walking toward the row of prisoners looked at Beggs, Coughlin and O'Sullivan without a change in his glowing countenance. Next to O'Sullivan sat Burke, who kept up his incessant gum chewing and watched the aged witness with no more apparent interest than he would have done had Carlson been a stranger. The next moment their eyes met. Burke only smiled. Over Carlson's face there swept a mingled expression of recognition and contempt, and without saying a word he jerked his hand toward Burke and walked back to his chair. The identification was complete.

Attorney Forrest moved to have that part of the evidence relating to the condition of the furniture as discovered by Carlson excluded. The court overruled the motion, and Forrest proceeded to cross-examine. He went at it hammer and tongs, making the witness so mad that at times he would reply to Forrest's questions only upon gentle urging from the judge. The cross-examination was long, but the old man sustained his story with remarkable ability and saved it from any material shaking.

John C. Garrity, an ex-saloon keeper, was next called to corroborate the testimony. Mr. Samson gave the day before to the effect he had been sent to Coughlin by witness, and asked by Coughlin to "slug" Dr. Cronin. Garrity swore that Coughlin two days ago asked him if he thought Samson would do a job for him. Witness asked of what the job consisted and was told by Coughlin that he wanted a man slugged in the neck with a club or bat. Witness saw Samson and sent him to Coughlin.

On cross-examination by Forrest witness said that he suggested to Coughlin that such slugging might kill the man, upon which Coughlin replied that it would not matter much if he did. Upon completion of the examination court adjourned.

THE NAVASSA RIOTERS.

One Hundred and Twenty-Three More of the Negroes Landed and Locked Up.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—The brig Alice and Romance have arrived here from Navassa. They had on board 133 negroes, forty-two of whom are charged, under oath of Roby, one of the white bosses, with mutiny, riot and inciting to murder. The other eighty-one are held as witnesses. All of them, criminals and witnesses, were taken to the city jail and locked up. The accused, including the eight landed by the Galena last week, will have a hearing next Wednesday.

United States District Attorney Hayes says that from the statements of some of the negroes, it is shown that a conspiracy to murder the whites was planned some days before the 14th of September, and that on a given signal it was carried out. The attack began in conformity to the plans, by beating Charles W. Roby, the superintendent of the mines. He was left for dead. The crowd then proceeded to the superintendent's quarters, and before night five whites were murdered in the manner described in former dispatches.

John Hazard, one of the accused, went to Navassa eight months ago. He found things in a pretty bad way. They had to work from 7 a. m. until sunset, he says, and were allowed only four lumps of hard tack and a small piece of corned beef each day. That and other cruelties, such as lashing, trying the men up by the thumbs, he says, caused the trouble.

THE HATFIELD-M'COY FEUD.

Another Battle, in Which a Woman is Killed and a Man Wounded.

MILTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—The Hatfield-McCoy feud appears to have become a war of extermination. The Blumfield family, frenzied by the murder of Al. Blumfield and his wife, have joined the Hatfields; raising the numbers to 350 men. On Wednesday John and Charles Blumfield and George Hatfield went to Huntington, enlisted about a dozen of their relatives who work in the Chesapeake and Ohio shops, bought about one hundred repeating rifles, 135 revolvers and several thousand cartridges, and loading the goods into wagons, started for the scene of the feud.

While at supper that night, near the farm house of Mrs. James Brown, who was born a Hatfield, the party was fired at from ambush. The Hatfields returned the volley, but in the darkness could not see with what result. John Blumfield, their leader, was wounded, and after the firing Mrs. Brown was found lying dead in her house with a bullet through the neck. The excitement here is intense, and the governor will be asked to send troops here.

DISHONORED BY HER FATHER,
Who Will Probably Pay for His Horrible Crime With His Life.

YOUNGSHOWN, O., Nov. 2.—Last night Chase Edmunds, a butcher, upon entering his residence, discovered his wife and her father, John McCreery, a white haired man 62 years old, in a compromising position. The couple attempted to escape, when Edmunds seized his father-in-law, and after beating him terribly threw him down the stairs, his head coming in contact with a door and the force of the blow breaking his skull.

After chastising his wife Edmunds left his dishonored house, and sent an attorney there who found the old man dying, and had him conveyed to the hospital. Mrs. Edmunds said she had consented to the crime because her father had been drinking. She is 21 years old, and has four children. Her father came here ten days ago from Colorado.

Hungarians Fight With Knives.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 2.—In a drunken brawl between Hungarian laborers on the Jersey Central road near this city, last evening, knives were freely used. A dozen men were slightly wounded, and three or four so severely that their lives are despaired of. A number of the fighters are under arrest.

Unfortunate Sailors.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Capt. Eaton, of the bark Samuel J. McKee, was swept overboard off Cape Hatteras and drowned. Nearly all of her crew are down with the scurvy.

DAMAGING SNOW STORMS.

Many Cattle and Horses Perish in a Northwestern Blizzard.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 2.—The snow storm which has prevailed for forty-eight hours has abated. It was the worst storm ever experienced in this region. Reports from the south say that thousands of cattle and horses have been drifted off their ranges into the south-east and that hundreds of the weaker animals have perished in the blizzard. All trains are delayed and wires are down. The damage to fruit and shade trees is considerable.

General Throughout the Northwest.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 2.—It began showing here at 7 p. m. last night, and everything points to a heavy fall. Reports received show that it has been snowing for twenty-four hours at Mason City, Lemars, Aberdeen, S. Dak., and St. James, Minn. The storm is general throughout northern Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

Snowbound Trains Wrecked.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 2.—News reaches here that the south bound passenger train on the Fort Worth road, which is snowbound near Easton, sixty-five miles south, was run into by a freight train at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Engineer Hickey, Fireman Flanagan and a passenger from Illinois were killed. No further particulars are yet obtainable.

WEST POINT OR ARLINGTON.

Mr. George W. Childs Thinks Will Be the Final Resting Place of Grant's Body.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—"The body of Gen. Grant will very probably be removed from its present resting place in New York to West Point or Arlington cemetery," said Mr. George W. Childs yesterday. "Several years before his death Gen. Grant said that his military superior, Winfield Scott, was buried at West Point, and he would like to lie there. He also expressed a desire that his wife might be buried at his side."

"At the time of Gen. Grant's death New York came quickly forward with its offer to provide a resting place. Now, however, influential Grand Army men have asked that the body be moved to Arlington, and special arrangements have been made to allow of Mrs. Grant being buried at the same place. United States army officers seem to prefer West Point. Within a few weeks I expect to see Mrs. Grant, and she will, of course, be the first to act."

INDIANA MINERS' STRIKE.

The Seventh Month and No Signs of a Settlement—Aid Liberally Given.

BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 2.—The miners' executive committee say that relief continues liberally for their four or five thousand dependents. Friday a second carload of clothing from Indianapolis, Grand Rapids and Adrian, Mich., was distributed. Substantial aid is also reported from the General Assembly, Knights of Labor, and the Miners' National Progressive union.

The strike enters on its seventh month without indications that point to a close soon. About 300 blacklegs are at work in the various mines. George Arty, recently a miner, acquired possession of a small mine at Knightsville, and says he will pay what the miners ask. A number of small mines operated by the strikers are selling coal at $1.20 and $1.30 at mines, a big cut under the operators of whom they demand an advance in wages.

A "Looking Backward" Club.

DETROIT, Nov. 2.—A society has been formed here by forty-six believers in the ideas of Edward Bellamy, as set forth in his "Looking Backward." The organization is headed by Dr. David Ingles, one of the leading allopathic physicians of Detroit. The first meeting was held Thursday night. S. G. Howe, a manufacturer, went so far as to announce his belief that nationalism would reign supreme before the close of the present century. A. A. Boutell, who is willing that any change may come if it will only close the saloons, announced his conversion. I. M. Sheritt, editor of a labor paper, expressed himself convinced that Bellamy has solved the problem.

Advance in Anthracite Coal.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The anthracite shippers in the Schuylkill region have advanced the prices for furnaces, lump and steamboat fifteen cents per ton to $5 at the mines. The coal shippers from the Lehigh region will also advance the price of those sizes ten cents per ton, and on Monday next, when the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central roads will increase the rate of tolls five cents per ton on furnace sizes.

Whaling Vessel Lost.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 2.—Private dispatches from San Francisco, just received here, report the loss in the Arctic ocean of the whaling steamer Lucretia of this port. No particulars have been received. The Lucretia was owned by Capt. William Lewis and others of this city, and was valued with outfit at $40,000. She was partially insured in London Companies.

Montana's Election Not Yet Settled.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 2.—No decision has been rendered in the Silver Bow appeal case. By request of counsel Judge DeWolf will render his decision on Wednesday next. It is understood that the board of canvassers have found irregularities in the count of the Silver Bow returns.

Another Johnstown Victim Found.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 2.—The body of a man found yesterday evening in Conemaugh has been identified as John Schwartz, of Allentown, Pa., who was a passenger on the ill-fated day express lost at Conemaugh.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thursday, November 28, Proclaimed Such by the President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The president has issued the following Thanksgiving Day proclamation:

"A highly favored people mindful of their dependence on the bounty of Divine Providence, should seek fitting occasion to testify gratitude and ascribe praise to Him who is the author of their many blessings. It behooves us then to look back with thankful hearts over the past year and bless God for His infinite mercy in vouchsafing to our land enduring peace, to our people freedom from pestilence and famine, and to them that labor, a recompense of their toil."

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, do earnestly recommend that Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of this present month of November, be set apart as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and that the people of our country, ceasing from the cares and labors of their working day, shall assemble in their respective places of worship and give thanks to God, who has prospered us on our way and made our paths the paths of peace, beseeching Him to bless the day to our present and future good, making it truly one of thanksgiving for each reunited home circle as for the nation at large.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fourteenth.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

THE LEEWARD ISLANDS.

Apparently Anxious to Transfer Their Trade With Us to Canada.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 2.—Governor Smith, of the Leeward West India islands, has arrived here to confer with the Dominion government regarding the extension of reciprocal trade relations between Canada and those islands. The Dominion government is now considering tenders for a monthly line of steamers to run between Halifax and the islands. Governor Smith says that the quantity of fish and lumber the British West Indies will take from Canada can be greatly increased by the removal or lowering of the duty, which the islands are prepared to do if Canada will place their sugar, molasses and rum on the free list. Governor Smith says that a very large percentage of the trade now carried on between the Leeward islands and the United States will be transferred to us.

NO RIOT.

Nothing But a Worly War Occurred at Axtell, Kansas.

AXTELL, Kan., Nov. 2.—The reports sent out from here concerning an alleged riot between the Methodists and Catholics were exaggerations. The facts are as follows: The Presbyterian minister here delivered a lecture Wednesday night on "Priestcraft Exposed." A number of the Catholics present became indignant at the charges made in the discourse, and there was a short but exciting conflict of words between the minister and the Catholics.

There was no riot or disturbance of the peace. The mayor, however, received exaggerated reports of the lecture, and was misinformed that the Catholics had made violent threats, and he requested the governor to send troops to prevent a possible riot. Adj. Gen. Roberts arrived here yesterday and examined into the condition of affairs, and found that there was non necessity for the presence of the militia. He returned yesterday, and will report the above facts to the governor.

A CASE FOR JUDGE LYNCH.

Miscreants Attempt to Wreck a Train, Which is Only Derailed.

BIG RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 2.—A fiendish attempt was made to wreck a Grand Rapids and Indiana passenger train last night. The train which leaves here at 7 o'clock in the evening, heavily loaded, was derailed at Clark's siding, three miles north of Manton.

A guard rail at that obscure point had been piled up and blocked a foot above the track, and the train crashed into it while running at full speed, and every car but the baggage car left the track and plowed for rods through the soft sand.

The passengers were badly shaken up and thoroughly frightened, but no one was seriously hurt, although many suffered minor injuries. There is great excitement in the neighborhood, and officers backed by citizens are scouring the country for the wretches who did the deed.

NINE NECKS TO BE STRETCHED.

Two of Them Black Ones and the Remaining Seven Red.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—Judge Parker, of the United States district court for the western district of Arkansas, yesterday passed sentence of death upon nine murderers, setting the date of hanging for Thursday, Jan. 16, 1890.

The murderers are George Tabler and Charles Ballard, negroes; Harry Austin; John Billy; Tom Wilge; Madison James; Jefferson Jones; Sam. Gaens and Jamison Burris, all full-blooded Indians except Austin. The crimes were all committed in the Indian Territory and within a year.

City Marshall Fatally Shot.

WEBB CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Joseph Moore, marshal of this city, was shot through the lower portion of the body last night by J. M. Cooley, a dissolute character, whom he was attempting to arrest for drunkenness. Moore will die. Cooley is under arrest.

HIGH CARNIVAL

not so easy, however, to make people believe it, unless you are thoroughly prepared to convince them that such is the case. In the past two weeks we advertised certain lots of goods at certain prices. People came, looked at them, bought them and wondered at the quality for the price we sell them. 'Tis true, we profited very little by the sale of them, BUT WE DID JUST AS WE ADVERTISED WE WOULD DO! The rush of trade in the past ten days has closed out the previous advertised numbers. We have placed on our counters for the next ten days the following lots, at prices named below. Please come at your earliest convenience. They will sell rapidly at the figures we name on them, and we want everybody to have a slice of the pie. Here goes for the next ten days:

125 Children's Cape Overcoats,	- - - - -	$2 75, worth $4 00
140 Boys' and Youths' Overcoats,	- - - - -	3 25, worth 5 00

The Democratic State Central and Executive Committees will meet in Lexington on Wednesday, November 6, for the purpose of naming a time and place for holding a State convention to nominate a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The Superior Court of Iowa has recently handed down a decision to the effect that a juror would not be disqualified though he had read all the newspaper reports of a case, and though these reports may have made a certain impression upon him, if he should swear that he would be capable of rendering an impartial verdict on the evidence.

This is a step in the right direction, and now the courts ought to go further and say no man is eligible as a juror in any case unless he can and does read the newspapers.

The matrimonial match between the American heiress Miss Gwendolyn Caldwell and Prince Murat has been broken off, and the young lady will soon return to her native land. The Prince didn't want to be limited to a simple allowance of $10,000 a year out of her estate. She plainly informed him that she had successfully managed her financial affairs in the past and didn't intend turning her wealth over to any man. Miss Caldwell seems to be a very centsible woman.

The way local option is enforced in Maysville appears to be in giving the citizens an option on a drink. According to the Maysville BULLETIN the side entrances to the saloons were open last Sunday, and at night the glare of gas and the merry clink of glasses and popping of corks were seen and heard by the church goers. In addition there were several drunken men on the streets, and "Prohibition is a failure in Maysville" the BULLETIN adds.—Daily Commonwealth.

Our esteemed contemporary is respectfully informed that there is no local option law in Maysville and never has been. The BULLETIN never said that "Prohibition is a failure in Maysville." It did say that the "Sunday law" is.

REFERRING to the delegates to the Constitutional Convention, the Anderson News says: "The position should not be awarded as an honor to some aspiring politician, but given as a duty to some solid, successful man; a man of such approved knowledge and former prominence that it would rather be an honor to the county he represents to have him serve." This course, it seems, will be very generally pursued, as the names thus far would indicate. The body will unquestionably be a representative one if such men as Hon. J. Proctor Knott, of Marion, Judge Beckner, of Shelby, Judge DeHaven, of Oldham, and Hon. R. P. Jacobs, of Boyle, are sent from their respective counties, and it is safe to say the result of their labors will meet with universal approbation.

At this time of oppression of labor by Republican barons the following, from Robert J. Ingersoll, will be found very fitting: "The men of wealth, the men who control these great corporations—these great mills—give millions away in ostentatious charity. They send missionaries to foreign lands. They endow schools and universities and allow men who earn the surplus to die in want. I believe in no charity founded on robbery. I have no admiration for generous highwaymen or extravagant pirates. At the foundation of charity let there be justice. Let these men whom others make wealthy give something to the workmen—something to those who created their fortunes. This would be one step in the right direction. Do not let it be regarded as charity—let it be regarded as justice."

THE KENTUCKY CENTRAL

Placed in Hands of a Receiver for Failing to Pay Taxes.

A special from Frankfort says the Kentucky Central Railroad Company, which has long been owing the Commonwealth for State taxes amounting to over $50,000 and interest, was ordered to a settlement Thursday in the Circuit Court by the appointment of Hon. L. C. Norman as receiver. The company paid a part of the State taxes which the Railroad Commissioners assessed against it for 1884, 1885 and 1886, but refused to pay the balance above stated on the grounds that it had an exemption clause in its charter for that amount. The Commonwealth obtained judgement in the Circuit Court last June and now seeks to enforce that judgement by the appointment of a receiver. Major Norman is ordered by the court to take charge of the road and operate it until these taxes and costs are paid.

The company embraces the road from Covington through Paris, Winchester and Richmond to Lancaster. The Maysville and Lexington, Southern Division, extending from Paris to Lexington, the Maysville and Lexington, Northern Division, extending from Maysville to Paris and the Richmond branch of the L. and N., extending from Richmond through Lancaster to Richmond. These roads are owned by Mr. C. P. Huntington, who failed to put in his appearance on the summons of the court. It is likely now the case will be taken to the Court of Appeals, or as Mr. Huntington is a non-resident, carried to the United States Court.

Major Norman, the receiver, is the Commissioner of Insurance, and a gentleman of ability, whose appointment will carry with it the assurance that the road in his hands will not suffer from incapacity or neglect.

We see from the Portsmouth Tribune that a slick drummer has been in that place selling fine furniture and carpets by sample on the installment plan—$1 to be paid down and the rest in monthly payments; the goods to be delivered to-morrow, but to-morrow, like the goods and the drummer, never comes, and those who invested lost their dollar. This was about like the fellow who was in Ashland some months ago taking orders for enlarging pictures to life size for nothing. He said it was his way of advertising. The express charges, he explained, would be 75 cents, and that would have to be paid in advance. The pictures and thief have neither been heard of since.

RED CORNER CLOTHING HOUSE

Maysville is the greatest Clothing Market in the country, and the RED CORNER CLOTHING HOUSE the cheapest and best place to buy Clothing in the State—always in the lead; handles the best line of Clothing, &c.; sells for smaller profits and gives you what you buy. Having been so successful in the sale of Children's Knee-Pants Suits, on account of the reduction, the past week, we will, for the next ten days, not only make the reduction on Child's Knee Pants Suits, but also on

Boys' and Youths' Three-Piece Suits!

We respectfully ask Mothers to call and examine this line, for when we say we make a reduction, it is made. Remember we have the largest line of Clothing ever placed in any house in the city, and will give special inducements on MEN'S AND BOYS' OVERCOATS. Children's and Boys' Overcoats from $1.50 to $12; Men's from $2.50 to $25; and with every cash dollar purchase or every dollar paid on account you get a ticket entitling you to a chance on an elegant GOLD WATCH and SILVER WATER SERVICE, given away January 15th.
